

COME HOME TO GEORGETOWN-QUITMAN COUNTY, GA.

Georgetown-Quitman County is centrally located between Albany Ga, Dothan AL, and Columbus Ga. It is also adjacent to Eufaula, AL. which shares that small town life like us.

Georgetown-Quitman County also shares the Lake Walter F. George Wildlife Management area with a neighboring county to the South.

The Unified Government of Georgetown-Quitman County
25 Old School Rd
Georgetown, Ga. 39854

Georgetown-Quitman County is a consolidated government.

Quitman County was created from parts of Randolph and Stewart counties in 1858.

The county was named for General John A. Quitman, a leader in the Mexican War, once Governor of Mississippi, and an avid spokesman for states rights.

The county's only incorporated municipality is Georgetown, the county seat. It was named for the area in Washington, D.C. It was originally called Tobanana after a nearby creek.

Agriculture generated more than $8 million in total farm gate value in 2016, with timber sales accounting for 40 percent and row crops of peanuts, hay and cotton accounting for another 25 percent.

Georgetown-Quitman County has the potential for a strong business industry base, it has quality education, and some of the most beautiful scenery in the state. The incomparable Lake Walter F. George, along with the county's many hunting and fishing opportunities, make Georgetown-Quitman County an outdoorsman's paradise. Come visit for a day, or stay for a lifetime.

